OBJECTIVES

- To understand the history and purpose of the Lacey Act
- To learn the declaration requirement implementation schedule
- To identify the exemptions to the declaration requirements
- To identify violators and prosecutions
History of the Lacey Act

- Introduced by Iowa Congressman John F. Lacey
- Signed into law by President William McKinley on May 25, 1900
- Oldest wildlife protection statute in the U.S.
- It has been amended several times
- Most recently amended in 2008
Purpose of the Lacey Act Amendment

- Prevent trade in illegally harvested lumber
- Prevent trade in wood products made from illegally harvested lumber
The Lacey Act makes it...

- Unlawful to trade any product made from plants that are taken, possessed, transported, or sold in violation of the laws of the United States, a specific State, Indian Tribe, or any foreign law that protects plants.
- Applies to interstate and foreign commerce
- Unlawful to falsify documents, accounts or records of any plant covered by the Act
- Unlawful to import certain plant products without an import declaration
In Plain English...

- Make sure your shipments were obtained legally
- Make sure your shipments’ documentation and records are true and accurate
- Make sure your shipment is properly declared under the Lacey Act declaration requirement

Exemptions from the Declaration Requirement

- Plants and plant products used exclusively as packing material to support, protect, or carry another item including (but not limited to):
  - Instruction manuals, labels, pallets and crating

- “Common cultivars” and “common food crops”
  (Note: Will be later defined by APHIS and FWS)

- Plants for planting
Contents of Declaration

- The declaration must contain the scientific name of the plant from which the article is made, value of the importation, quantity of the product, and the name of the country where the plant was harvested.

- Paper and paperboard products containing recycled content must include the average percent of recycled content without regard for species or country of harvest.
Contents of Declaration

- If the plant species from which the products are made varies and are unknown, importers will have to declare the name of each species that may have been used to produce the product.

- If a product is made of a plant species commonly harvested in more than one country, and the country is unknown, the importer will be required to declare the name of each country from which the plant may have been harvested.
Declaration Requirements

- All declarations submitted must be accurate.
- False statements may be referred for enforcement.
Violators of the Lacey Act

- Anyone who imported, exported, transported, sold, received, acquired or purchased wood products made from illegal timber
- Anyone who knew or should have known that the wood was illegal may be prosecuted
Violations may be prosecuted in three basic ways

1. Civil – Monetary penalties
2. Criminal – Fines, penalties, and/or potential incarceration
3. Forfeiture – Dispossession of the product in question

The burden of proof rests on the U.S. government.
